Supporting Adults with Disabilities in Loudoun County
by Providing Volunteer & Team Building for Your Organization

Who We Are

A Farm Less Ordinary (AFLO) is a non-profit organization that provides employment and community to people with developmental and intellectual disabilities while sustainably growing organic food in Loudoun County, Virginia.

What We Do

Our Growers participate in every part of the business, from starting seeds, to making pickles. They learn how to grow, maintain, harvest, package and sell our produce. Most importantly, we promote habits, social skills, and behaviors that our Growers can use in any workplace setting - not just on our farm.

How We Enrich Lives

- We give individuals with disabilities the opportunity and skills they need to earn a paycheck and contribute to society.
- We provide physical, mental, and emotional breaks for heroic caregivers who desperately need it.
- We supply our community with locally grown, organic produce and food products.

What YOU Can Do

The statistics can be staggering: 81% of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities do not have a paid job in the general community. On top of that, 68% of caregivers report that the person they support receives no training or advocacy services. And the rates are increasing every year.

The need is great.

This is where your organization can help.

Are you looking for a great volunteer outing for your employees? Interested in getting out of the office and into the great outdoors of beautiful rural Loudoun County? In the fresh air? Working your muscles and building some team camaraderie while working for the greater good? We've got you covered.
